FARMVILLE.

Our hustling little city needs a Board of Trade. The business men should often get together and consult for mutual protection and the general good of the community. "Touching elbows" means much to soldiers and to citizens in the private walks of life as well.

I suppose the citizens of Farmville are as much given to church-going as those of other places on the map, but I heard one of our preachers "roast for" members of his flock for not attending the mid week prayer meeting. We often sing in our church s. "Religion is the chief concern of mortals here below," but when the song dies out of the air that thought dies out of our memories. But for the women of the churches the Wednesday evening prayer services would become obsolete.

No prisoner before Judge Hundley will ever be denied a fair trial whether he has counsel or not. And this applies to the black skin as well as the white. Justice may be blind but the just Judge is never so.

The time was when there were a number of lawyers building in Farmville, all doing well, now there is but one who relies upon the law for a living. What does this mean? Has litigation gotten to be too much of a luxury for this luxurious age? There is an old adage which says that a man is a fool when he undertakes to be his own lawyer, and yet our business men have learned to do without them, they are not foolish men.

A lady friend rejoiced when she heard the notes of a bird song at an early hour of the morning one day last week, and when told that it was an English Sparrow that was doing the singing, said, "that may be so but still it is a cheerful mid-winter song."

Two commodious and comfortable vehicles, each drawn by two horses, are engaged in hauling scholars to the Green Bay high school in this county and the experiment is entirely satisfactory. The little ones are gathered up for some five miles in each direction, and are landed at the school house 'dry shod' in even very bad weather. The experiment should expand and become general.

The Farmville dispensary has been such a money-maker that I hear it rumored that when the next legislature meets applications will pour in from adjoining counties for the establishment of others. The whiskey problem is yet unsolved.

I have no idea what it would cost to build a trolley line from here to Hampden Sidney, but I am persuaded of its necessity if that venerable institution is to remain in Prince Edward.

There are few saw mills at work in our county but the number of logs brought to those operating within our corporate limits is something immense.

In the near future all of our streets will be either paved or macadamized.

Now and then a small boy shoots off a pop cracker, and it sounds like a Xmas. echo.

The steer-cart-mode of transportation is not just yet a thing of the past, but is declining with the coming and going years. It is'nt unusual to find young calves in yokes. Cruelty to animals is sometimes practiced on our streets and no one seems armed with authority to prevent it, but, then our vagrant law is dead letter too.

The cleanest grocery store in America is located on the east side of Main Street, Farmville. One of the most tasteful and tasteful dry goods merchants in all Virginia does business on the west side of Main Street, Farmville. One of the most constant and earnest workers I ever knew works on the south side of Third Street, Farmville.

One of the leading soprano voices of all Virginia is heard Sunday after Sunday in one of our churches.

The "beloved physician" still lives and practices in Farmville.

The best pipe organ to be found in a town of like size anywhere in the land can be seen in Farmville.

The purest water that springs from the bottom of mother earth is the daily beverage of people in Farmville. One of the best depots on the N. & W. system is located in Farmville. No better flour is known to the market than that made in Farmville. No better hardies ever entered the market up of a plow than those manufactured in Farmville. No more lively selling was ever witnessed in any dispensary than is daily seen in the dispensary at Farmville. Great is Farmville.

The farmer who failed to take advantage of the recent ice spell because it was Xmas. time may have lost the only opportunity of this season.

Prince Edward is losing the opportunity of a life in not being represented at Jamestown. Whom the gods wish to go wrong they first make blind.

We have but one coal dealer in town and this is a matter of wonder in this age of fierce and furious competition. That's the one monopoly with us with the exception of the Lithia water trade. There is but one Farmville Lithia spring known to man. There is 'big money' in it if properly advertised. And the town needs advertising too.

Politicians are dependent on principle's ink for notoriety and the business man to be kept in touch with the buying and selling public

A gentleman visited us not long ago, who remembers when Farmville was the head of navigation on the Appomattox river, and when boats ran, or were pulled from Farmville to Petersburg regularly. The iron horse stamped the system out of existence as he did the stage coach lines.

I am sorry to report that our worthy treasurer, Mr. W. H. Ewing is again on the sick list.

Our east side residents are complaining of a want of street conditions in this ward of our city. Dr. Anderson has been charged with the duty of organizing a Board of health for the town

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recomend it as a safe remedy for children and adults.

Many Interesting Reports Made o Her People.

SHALL I NEVER SEE AGAIN?

The day shall come and the day shall go
To me it brings but one wild wave of woe.
Oh God! alas! must I cease to pain
And never look upon the sun again?

Spare me oh merciful God I humbly pray
On bended knees I pray that Thou will take away
The doom that forces me through life to grope
Without even one solitary ray of hope!

Shall I never see my grandchildren more?
Nor hear their loving prattle as of yore?
Alas! my hand is trembling, my heart is sore,
To think that I will see my children no more.

The white snow is falling fast
Upon the pane which soon will be my rest
If to my heart comfort you will send
Oh Smith I fondly welcome thee as my friend.

Oh children, friends, for me do not mourn.
Wear no crape when life is past and gone,
For though sh-rouded here in gloom
I will waken to a brighter life again

Loving aunnie, smiling, point the way,
Hope the bountious sun, sends forth a brilliant ray,
And says, "Come weary pilgrim, thou hast earned thy rest,
Gently take thy abode among the blest."

Wild Animal Arena.

Residents and visitors of Richmond are being singularly fortunate this winter in seeing the largest aggregation of wild animals and world renowned trainers, men and women, that has ever been gathered in any city before.

Consul Chimpanzee, who carries out the Darwinian theory of man descending from an ape, is one of the latest attractions on exhibition in Bostock's Wild Animal Arena. This human like chimpanzee is being educated in putting on and wearing clothes like those worn by human beings, also in table manners and along other lines. The education of this Simmian has begun at an early age of two years. Although wild in its earliest stages, Consul already shows marked development.

Among the world's famous trainers, never before seen in this country is "Mons. Joyap," who handles a group of twenty interesting animals headed by the world's renowned fighting tiger, "Goldie," and including the funniest bear in existence, "Doc." "Mons Gaillard," also a native of France, who is known all over Europe as "Nervy Gaillard," including that famous old fighter "Baltimore," the most terrible lion in captivity with a record of nearly a score of trainers maimed by his deadly poisoned claws The list of trainers, includes Mme Morelli, the leopard queen, known all over the civilized world for her hazardous tactics in handling a large group of leopards and jaguars, La Belle Aurora and her dance with four lionesses, including "Queeny and Lizzie" two of the most vicious female lions in captivity each one of which has marked this beautiful dancer with their awful claws on numerous occasions.

Every week finds new attractions added to the collection already here by consignments either from Mr. Bostock's Hippodrome in Paris or consignments shipped by his agents in Asia, Africa or Polynesia direct to Richmond by New York.

This immense collection of trainers, and wild and trained animals is truly the largest ever gathered in this country, under one management and will be many times larger before the opening of the Jamestown Exposition, and Richmonders will see all of these famous men, women and animal actors.

However, when the Exposition opens, their performances will be one of the features to attract crowds visiting the Exposition from all over the world.

From Brother A. L. Carson.

I wish in a heartfelt way to express my gratitude to the good people of this charge for their many tokens of kindness and appreciation since entering upon my second year. At each of the four churches the people are kind and helpful to their pastor and seem to know how to encourage one to do his best. The people of the community in which we live are genuinely sympathetic and as kind as any among whom we have ever been Almost every day we are the recipients of some an nihilation of their love and esteem.

We were especially remembered at Christmas. A flexible bound, analytical reference family Bible, a gift from the young people of Prospect church, headed by Misses Maggie Crawley and Bessie Carter; a leather suit case, the best we have ever seen, from the older people of the same church, led by T. S. Tweedy, the preacher's friend and prince of stewards; a barrel of flour from Brother Herbert Bland, of Olive Branch church; a turkey each from brothers W. B. Binford, Lee Thornton and sister Lorine Abbitt, besides many other things such as butter, eggs, ham, fresh meats and canned goods too numerous to mention.

And now since much needed repairs have been put on the parsonage, a beautiful and attractive porch built on the front, the length of the house, and the entire house newly painted, the charge now has not only a comfortable but a more desirable home for their pastor.

We esteem it a great privilege to serve these noble people and hope to be instrumental in leading them upon a higher plane during this year. Already since conference we have received several valuable additions to our membership.

When it's all over, the space writers ought to present some little testimonial to Thaw.
